THIRD TERM DESIRE

Quiet reports are circulating that President Truman has decided to run for a third term. He is said to have told friends in his administration not to begin looking for jobs to take effect after 1952.

Few people expect Mr. Truman to admit this intention now, if he has it. There's too much political advantage in keeping everyone guessing.

But if he should run again it would be the strongest evidence yet of how greatly he has changed from the days in 1945 when he was telling the world he didn't want the job-that it had just been thrust upon him. It would be a sign that Mr. Truman has been bitten by a bug that seems to bite most presidents.

We have a popular notion that the third term never really became an issue until Franklin D. Roosevelt's time. But the historians say otherwise. According to Arthur M. Schlesinger, Sr., Harvard historian:

"It is hardly an exaggeration to say that since Jackson every incumbent who finished his second term has been an active or receptive aspirant for a third one; and in this respect there has been no distinction between the parties."

Grant wanted a third term in 1876, was discouraged from trying, but then came back and bid for the office again in 1880. Grover Cleveland, finishing his second go in 1896, neither confirmed nor denied ambition for another term. His enemies in the Democratic Party effectively squelched any hopes he may have had.

Theodore Roosevelt, after expressly supporting the two-term tradition and bowing out to William Howard Taft in 1908, changed his mind and actively sought another term in 1912. Had Republicans united on him, he probably would have won.

Woodrow Wilson was an invalid in 1920, but historians are agreed he wanted a third term to vindicate his stand on the League of Nations. The right moment for him never Though Calvin Coolidge appeared to many to remove himself completely by his "I do not choose to run" statement in 1928, numerous observers believe he actually was willing to be drafted for further White House duty. One intimate says he was gravely disappointed when the G.O.P. convention named Herbert Hoover.

You can't explain this behavior among presidents simply by saying that, once kindled, ambition burns exceedingly bright. Historians see more to it than that.

They find that most presidents develop two worries: (1) that their "program" won't be finished unless they complete it themselves, and (2) that a man of true presidential stature can't be obtained to replace them. In other words, from the Olympian heights of the White House, all other candidates look less impressive than the incumbent. He comes to feel that he alone is qualified for the particular job to be done, that no one else can be trusted to earry on his "good work."

If Mr. Truman really is thinking seriously of another try in 1952, chances are that thoughts like these have at least crossed his mind. For they seem to go with the office.

A ONE-BIT PIECE

Almost every American knows that two bits is twenty-five cents, but how many ever saw one bit? As a matter of fact a one-bit piece, half the value of a quarter, did exist in old Mexican and Spanish colnage, and from that piece the bit got into American money talk.

Now Representative Wright Patman of Texas has introduced a bill which would add the bit to the actual American coins. This would not only add substance to the common terms of two, four and six bits, but would create the odd numbers between those figures. Congressman Patman would go farther. He would establish a half-bit piece. This, however, might be less useful than coins worth seven or seven and a half cents and three cents, previously proposed.

With all these suggestions for new coins!

'These Days' By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WAR TALK

It used to be that club-car, drawing room and other chit-chatty conversations were on such pleasant subjects as the character of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the foibles of Harry Hopkins, the ineptitude of Republicans. It was possible to spend a pleasan evening away from the radio on the delectable subject of the virtues of Dame Eleanor Roosevell or the Iribulations of Henry Wallace.

Nowndays, wherever one goes, the light link is on atom bombs, hydrogen bombs and whos will the war with Russia actually take place. Who will start it. As unpleasant as the subject is, particularly at a dinner table, it persists because for the first time, our people are really worried. We were not worried in 1938 or even in 1941. We had de-feated the Germans once; as for the Japanese, it would be a pushover.

We discovered that neither the Nazi nor the Japanese were easy to defeat and the cost of it is only now becoming a realizable fact in everybody's daily lile. And what is more, the cost of it all seems to have become a permanent burden upon each of us individually in so many ways, that war cannot be taken lightly, to say nothing of blithely. Formesa, while of itself of little importance, has in some ways become a symbol of this worry. For whereas there was a limited emotional response to in some ways become a symbol of this worry. For whereas there was a limited emotional response to the loss of Poland and more to the loss of Czechoslovakia, the immensity of the total loss of China has shocked our people and brought the danger of viir closer to home. Not that China is nearer than Czechoslovakia, but it has raised the question: "When will the snowball stop rolling?"

The answer naturally is that snowballs in history never stop rolling. They are stopped. Something has to stop them. Alexander, Caesar, Attila, Genghis Khan, Chireles V. Suleiman, Napoleon, Hitter—they were all stopped, by resistance, by dismitegration, by death.

In 1932, I wrote a book, "The Tinderbox of Asia," in which I said:

"Like a missive snowball, increasing in size as it has rolled on, Russia has been moving eastward in Siberia, since Yermak, a Cossack Ireebooter, crossed the Urals in the Sixtenth Century and saw the rich country on the eastern side of the divide. Russia did not require this vast domain for any economic purpose. There was no scarcity of food supplies or of raw materials, nor had Russia developed an industry and commerce which requires her markets.

By the force of racing developed an industry and commerce which required new markets. . . By the force of racial momentum he and his successors wandered on conquering the indigenous population, until they reached the Pacific and founded there the city of Vladivostok."

The resistance, up to World War II, to the land-The resistance, up to world war II, to the land-hunger of Russia was Germany on the west, Japan on the cast, and the British Empire on the south (from the Mediterranean to Afghanistan and Thibet). At Yalta, this resistance was destroyed by the agreement among Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill.

It is possible that neither Roosevelt per Church-

It is possible that neither Roosevelt nor Church-It is possible that neither Roosevelt nor Churchill quite realized the permanent import of their improvisations at Yalta. But I make the point, in all humility, that if one who is not a high government official with wide access to data, but only a newspaper reporter, could, as far back as 1932, point, as I then did in this book, to the consequences of a Parising days and the consequences of a Parising days are consequences. quences of a Russian domination of China—they should have had the knowledge and perception to realize it.

So, in these conversations to which I referred carlier in this piece, questions arise: "Must Russia be stopped?" "How and when?" "Who will do it?"

The last question must be answered first: Only the United States can stop Russia, if the will to resist is there. No other country possesses the wealth, the manpower or the Industrial capacity to do the job, nor do their peoples, at this time, possess the will to resist the Russians or to engage in a third, and obviously, more devastating enterprise of this nature. of this nature.

Having answered that one, all else fits into place: That is, if we have to do it alone, what is there of a physical and spiritual character to do it with? That will be discussed further in this column.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D. YOUR SHAPE AND YOUR HEALTH

Although insurance tables are based on weight as compared to height, physicians take into account the three general shapes of individual: (1) and pointing out how their shape of body affected their health. The individual with a narrow, thin body on short legs does not have as much room in his chest for his lungs and is more likely to (but need not necessarily) have lung trouble and indi-gestion. As tuberculosis individuals have great need of large quantities of nourishing food, it is unfor-tunate that the small intestine in these narrow individuals is some feet shorter than in normal or wide individuals, and therefore, less nourishing food is absorbed into the blood. Lung trouble and indigestion is most frequently found in narrow individ-

On the other hand, the individual with the long body is likely to be a good feeder, eats hig meals, and his small intestine is usually some feet longer than one of normal width and length. He then is more prone to everweight and thus to heart, blood vessel, liver and kidney aliments. Another factor entering into shape and health is the ductless glands—thyroid, pitultary and others—where underactivity affects weight and shape of the body.

What can you do about your health with your shape of body?

If thin, get cutdoors more and eat good nourishing food. If there is a tendency to stoutness, eat less and take more exercise. Overweight and Underweight

It has been well said that weight is one of the dearest methods of knowing one's health. The West Shore freight house was entered last night by a person or persons who got away with only a calculating machine, 1930 model, authorities said today.

of the raliroad police, are working on the case.
Evidence was found also indicating that an attempt had been made to enter the main freight building in the rear, a railroad official said. Nothing had apparently been taken from the first floor effice, police said.

Wrong Man

Berlin (P)—The German frau burst across the street into the arms of a man. For six years she had not seen her husband,a prisoner of war in Soviet Russia. He stood there, his arms around her in dumb shock. The tableau broke in dumb shock. The tableau broke up quickly and the passersby moved on. The couple went home and the wife picked up the threads of the old existence as though it never had been anapped. Eight weeks went by. Then the hushand's brother started to get a little picky about things, Much to the wife's annoyance he took his brother's fingerprints to the police. The case wound up in the Lichter-

YOUR TELEPHONE SERVICE stepped up in value in '49

NOW'T CAN REACH MANY more friends BY TELEPHONE

MY CALLS GO THROUGH FASTER AND

Last year the New York Telephone Company added over 807,000 telephones. When you include all the telephones that have been added since the war, this has, on the average, increased by nearly two-thirds, the number of friends, relatives and business establishments which can be called without a toll charge.

SINCE THE WAR ...

quality of telephone service continued to improve. Now there's seldom a wait for the dial tone or for the operator to answer. Most out-of-town calls go through in less than a minute, Very rarely is a customer's telephone out of order, and when it is, repair service is prompt.

AND YOU'D BE

SURPRISED AT

HOW MUCH

DOLLARS DID!

That's right. And to meet the needs of growing communities in New York State, last year we ostablished 74 new control offices, made additions to over 200 other switchboards, placed enough wire in cable to go around the world fill times. We also mpleted 18 new buildings and 12 major building additions.

Yes, not only did this money mean wore and better telephone service, but the wages paid to nearly 70,000 telephone people last year, as well as the millions of dollars paid in taxes to counties, cities and towns, ere a constructive force in the coonemy of the Empire State. Telephone dellars go a long way to serve you.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO STEPPING UP TELEPHONE VALUE EVEN MORE IN '50

Everybody in the telephone company constantly sime to improve service and to make it as friendly as possible. We are going ahead with plans for more telephones, more switchboards, more buildings—and we are not forgetting the value of "the voice with a smile." We pledge friendly service in 1950, service that will be pleasing and more valuable to you.

Tickets Selling Fast for Minstrel Show Starring Tommy Henrich on January 30

Featuring "Old Reliable," Tommy Henrich of the New York Yankees, the first annual minstrel show of the Columbian Saultes. and the Junior Catholic Daughters of America will be presented a' St. Mary's school hill Monday, January 30, starting at 8 15 p. m.

The show will be repeated at S. Joseph's school hall Tuesday, Jan 31, at the same hour Henrch will only appear at the Jan. 3: show, it has been announced.

According to Joseph Saccoman chairman of the minstrel show, there has been a brisk demand for Limited tickets to both shows and

I.mited tickets to both shows and that persons anxious to attend one of the two nights should socure their tickets soon.

In addition to the personal appearance of the great Yankee outfelder, the ministrel show will present City Judge Raymond J. Mino as the interlecutor. It is reported that Judge Mino has had a considerable amount of experience in other similar shows and that he il be at home in his role of interlocutor. ef interlocutor of the show. Henrich and McCarthy will cover the highlights of Tommy's career as a Yankee ball player.

Frank Oulton, producer, who has been rehearsing the lavish ministrel show for weeks, said today "this promises to be one of the best ministrels I have ever produced in Kangston," He said the show will include plenty of colot, laughts, dancing and music plus the appearance of Henrich. Illentich also will appear with two local youngsters, Joe Clark and Tommy Oulton, both of St. Many's school, who will attempt to strike out the Yankee ace. Pat Senor, reception chairman, will release further details regarding the show.

Mrs. Edmonston spoke of the importance of Eve as the first woman in history and of the respect held by the Hebrows for women. She said women's, importance in Hebrew history is exemplified by the lives of Ruth and Queen Ester. The speaker said among the names standing out on the pages of history were those of Cleopatra, Queen Isabella of Spain, Queen Victoria, Florence Nightingale and many others famous in medicine, arts and science,

She also spoke of the pioneer women and their part in the history of the United States, She noted that the important women the next thing to be done as best as possible."

Miss Scardefield quoted an early historian who described the land on which the present City of Kingston stands as a "high plateau surrounded by steep bluffs. The land on top of the plateau is uneven, rugged and very picturesque." The speaker said the section was known as Wildwyck and had scattered homes, the land for which had been alotted to them in land grants by the governors.

"TELL ME, PRETTY MAIDEN . . . ," sang the "Floradora" girls in the year 1900, and the famous double sextette-six men, six women—with its catchy tunes and graceful dancing, became the toast of Broadway. Watch closely and you might catch a glimpse of a shapely ankle through the "fluffy-ruffles" petticoats. The were many, many different "Floradora" girls in the years that followed, must all of them beautiful brunettes with shapely, Gibsongirl figures and nice voices. Volumes have been written about how the members of the original sextettes prospered in later life, through judicious marriage or careful attention to the stock market. For years, Granddad got that young feeling when you mentioned the "simple girls (and proper, too)" of the "Floradora" sextette.

He has just pocketed a stone of the Scheffel and with the Yankees and picked up an award by SPORT Magazine as the "Athlete of the Year." The Masslion, Ohio native, who now resides in New Jersey, is the Yankees roving ambassador of good will and is being groomed, slowly but unmistakably, for a scheffel scores 21

There is no humbug connected with Henrich's appearance in the There is no humbing connected with reservers appearance in the ministred show. The man with a flair for big cigars, and basehits in the clutch, possesses a fine tener voice and a pleasing personality. Sponsors in the rubber chicken circuit demand Henrich as their No. 1 In Women's Golf Play

The young Texan, who with her choice for speaking connected are involved. Joe Dichoice for speaker when Yankee personalities are involved. Joe Di-Mag generally steers clear of speaking engagements.

Gomez, A Fabulous Raconteur:

Dick McCarthy, the K.A.A. president, came up with a corker in formez. The southpaw hurler with the sharp tongue and crackling fast hall became one of baseball's legendary characters during his career with the Yankees. He was a throwback to the Ring Lardner type, fast on the draw, a superb performer on the mound. Only Herb Pennock challenges Gomez in inl-time rating in Yankee history.

Having beard Sconer Gomez deliver his medicine man spici, we recommend him heartily. He delivers in Will Rogers' style, with sly dry humor and not a few of the gags are about himself.

You certainly have heard some of them. About the time Ted Williams was breaking in with the Red Sox and word got around that Temperamental Ted was just wild about fire engines. As a matter of fact the Boston problem child once threatened to quit baseball and join the fire department.

The Red Sox visited the Stadium and Gomez gave Williams the treatment, once over light. Lefty collected a fireman's helmet, rubber coat and a fire siren. He literally drove Williams out of the park. From that day on, nobody ever heard Ted threaten to become a fireman.

Gomez, who once took time out during a tense moment in a World Series between the Yankees and Giants to watch an airplane circle overhead, created one of his own most famous gags.

The One About Lozzeri:

As Lefty tells it, Tony 'Poosh Em Up" Lazzeri, the great Yankee second baseman, was in the middle of a hot fielding streak and getting a lot of publicity in the newspapers. In a tight spot during a ball game, the ball came to Gomez, and Lefty, ignoring Lazzeri's frantic directions where to make the play, tossed the ball to Lazzeri

Announcing – 1950's First and Foremost Fine Cars

Norming could be finer-inside or out-than the beautiful new 1950 Lincoln and the magnificent new 1950 Lincoln Cosmopolitan on display starting temotrow in our showrooms.

Outwardly, their superb new body styling stamps them as being the most distinctive fine cars in America.

Inwardly, their rich new upholsteries and appointments make them the most luxurious, too. For their brilliantly fashioned new "Salon Styled" interiors are definitely the most beautiful in the world.

And on the road, their new range of performance is unquestionably in a class by itself. In the thick of traffic, or on the wide open highway, they are a sheer joy to drive...instantly alert...powerfully responsive. Just a few minutes behind the wheel will convince you that nothing could be finer in action than the great high compression Lincoln "INVINCIBLE 8" engine combined with HYDRA-MATIC"...with freedom forever from gear shift and clutch pedal!

And nothing, you will also discover, could be easier than Lincoln's new velvet-touch steering ... or more consfortable than its new weather control system...or more restful than its new Fiberglas soundproofing ... or more relaxing than the wonderfully soft Lincoln apringing.

If you haven't yet made an appointment with us, by all means do so now. Once you drive the new 1950 Lincoln or new 1950 Lincoln Cosmopolitan, you, too, will be certain that nothing could be finer. And we promise you'll be pleasantly surprised about the prices.

Nothing could be finer BE SURE TO COME IN AND SEE THEM...

Hogan Denies He Knows Assailant

Cornelius Hogan, 27, of Canal street, was treated at Kingston Hospital last night for "several small knife wounds," on one hand ind shoulder.

Police were asked at 11:33 p. m. to investigate and Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., and Special Officer Edward Kearney, were sent in the West Strand area to investi-gate. Hogan had already been taken to the hospital when they Questioned at the hespital, he said "he did not know the person "who assaulted him."

A function of the U. S. Bureau of Mines is to attempt to reduce federal expenses by testing fuels.
